

In-mold construction fuses the helmet's outer shell with the impact-absorbing EPS liner. The two materials are fused together, and one is reinforced by the other. This 'exoskeleton' allows helmets to be engineered that are lighter, more durable and better ventilated. A size large FX-21 helmet weighs 1.34kg or 2.95 lbs.